Classroom Highlights

Instruction will be wrapping up this week, ending with several assessments on Thursday and Friday. Please note that the Social Studies test will be on Thursday, and questions will be taken directly from the study guides. If your child did not bring home study guides, please let me know as soon as possible so I can obtain copies for you and send them home. Book orders were due today, but if there are any outstanding orders, I am extending the deadline until Friday, May 20. Please return all orders to me at this time. Next week will be a no homework week, as students will be participating in several fun activities each day. This is also the last edition of the newsletter for the year. I wish to extend my gratitude for all the time and effort you put forth in furthering your child's education at home. It has been a wonderful year full of classroom memories for me and the students. As summer quickly approaches, may you have a safe and restful break while enjoying the beautiful weather and sunshine. May God bless you!

Religion/Social Studies

Religion-This week, students will complete the Unit Seven checkpoint which covers the last three chapters. They will then begin Chapter 28-New Life in Jesus. In this chapter, students will tell what happened to Jesus after he was buried in a tomb, develop an understanding of why Easter is the most important feast for the Church, and affirm through prayer the new life created by Jesus' resurrection.

Social Studies- Students performed their group songs about Jamestown this week, which were very unique and informative ☺. On Thursday, students will be assessed over Jamestown and the New World. The test will be multiple choice, and all questions will be drawn directly from the two study guides which were sent home.
